

You are viewing one of thousands of biographies – click below for more, including Search box and access to Plant associated organisations.

Plant Biographies

Bibliography

Arethusa bulbosa

SWAMP PINK is an orchid. Native to eastern North America it has a delicately scented, bright pink flower.

It is also known as Adam-and-Eve, Arethusa, Bog arethusa, Bog orchid, Bog rose, Dragon orchid, Dragon's-mouth, Indian pink, Laughing jackass, Meadow pink, and Wild pink.

The flower's lower lip serves as a platform for insects.

Bulbosa means 'bulbous or swollen' with reference to the shape of the root.