Canarina canariensis

[Synonyms : Campanula canariensis, Canarina campanula]

CANARY ISLAND BELLFLOWER is a perennial climbing shrub. Native to the Canary Islands and tropical Africa it has dark reddish-veined, reddish orange flowers.

It is also known as Bicacarea (Canary Island), and Canary bellflower.

Canariensis means 'of or from the Canary Islands'.

This climbing shrub has been cultivated in Britain since 1696 as an ornamental.
