Clivia

Amaryllidaceae

[Liliaceae]

Clivia commemorates a granddaughter of the famous English soldier and colonial administrator Robert Clive (1725-1774), Lady Charlotte Florentia Clive (1787-1866) who became Duchess of Northumberland. She is known in the horticultural and gardening world for successfully cultivating one of the plants of this genus for the first time in Europe in her green house in the family gardens in the north of England. (Her garden at Syon House just outside London was restored to its former glory around the junction of the 20th and 21st Centuries.)
