

You are viewing one of thousands of biographies – click below for more, including Search box and access to Plant associated organisations.

Plant Biographies

Bibliography

Disporum maculatum

[Synonyms : Streptopus maculatus]

NODDING MANDARIN is a perennial. Native to North America it has purple spotted, yellow or white flowers with projecting stamens.

Maculatum is derived from Latin macula (spot, stain) meaning ‘spotted or blotched’.