

You are viewing one of thousands of biographies – click below for more, including Search box and access to Plant associated organisations.

Plant Biographies

Bibliography

Globularia vulgaris

GLOBULARIA is a perennial. Native to southern Europe (especially the Alps) and to the Mediterranean, it has tiny, sky-blue (occasionally lilac or white) flowers. It is also known as Bergskrabba (Swedish), Bergsskrabba (Swedish), Common globularia, and Globe daisy.

Vulgaris means ‘common’.

A yellow dye can be obtained from the leaves.