

You are viewing one of thousands of biographies – click below for more, including Search box and access to Plant associated organisations.

Plant Biographies

Bibliography

Oenanthe lachenalii

PARSLEY WATER-DROPWORT is a creeping perennial. Native to central and western Europe it has tiny pink-tinged, white flowers.

It is also known as Dibynlor Perllysddail (Welsh), Eng-Klaseskærm (Danish), Saltmarsh water-dropwort, and Smalstäkra (Swedish).

Lachenalii commemorates a botanist, Werner de la Chenal (1736-1800), who was a professor of botany at Basle in Switzerland.