Oenothera macrocarpa

[Synonyms : Megapterium missouriense, Oenothera missouriensis]

MISSOURI PRIMROSE is a perennial. Native to south-central United States it has fragrant yellow flowers.

It is also known as Big fruit evening primrose, Glade lily, Missouri evening primrose, Ozark sundrops, Prairie evening rose, Storblommigt nattljus (Swedish), and Yellow evening primrose.

Macrocarpa is made up of Greek macro- (large, long) and carpo- (fruit) components meaning 'large-fruited'.
