

You are viewing one of thousands of biographies – click below for more, including Search box and access to Plant associated organisations.

Plant Biographies

Bibliography

Oryza glaberrima

AFRICAN RICE is a grass. It is native to West Africa.

It is also known as Floating rice, Red rice, and West African rice.

Glaberrima means ‘entirely hairless’.

This species, which was domesticated in western Africa and has been cultivated in the Niger delta for 3,500 years, is still grown locally.