

You are viewing one of thousands of biographies – click below for more, including Search box and access to Plant associated organisations.

Plant Biographies

Bibliography

Pulmonaria longifolia

NARROW-LEAVED LUNGWORT is a semi-evergreen perennial. Native to Europe (especially France) and to southern Britain, it has reddish-pink buds that become tiny vivid blue flowers with projecting stamens.

It is also known as Long-leafed lungwort, and Long-leaved lungwort.

Longifolia is made up of Latin longi- (long) and -folia (leaved) components.

It has been grown as a cultivated ornamental.