

You are viewing one of thousands of biographies – click below for more, including Search box and access to Plant associated organisations.

Plant Biographies

Bibliography

Satureja spicigera

[Synonyms : Micromeria alternopilosa, Satureja intermedia, Satureja repanda, Satureja reptans]

CREEPING WINTER SAVORY is a subshrub. It has tiny white flowers.

It is also known as Bergbohlenkraut (German), Creeping savory, and Spiked savory.

Spicigera is derived from Latin spica (ear of corn, spike) and -ger (bearing, carrying) components meaning ‘spike-bearing’.